Financial

• Creston School District maintains autonomy in budgeting, financial decisions, and School Board of Directors governance

• The goal is to minimize transfer of funds from school-to-school to reduce confusion and to maintain the independence of each school district

• Grants will be focused on schools or the 7-12 of both schools. For example, Creston would submit a grant for additional funding or programs for the 7th and 8th grade and Wilbur do the same for high school.
Bill Wadlington, Creston Superintendent

Student Leadership and School Culture

- In May 2016 both High School and Junior High School will have the opportunity to spend a day establishing a new culture for their co-opted student bodies.
- Both schools will develop the process for student governance and leadership, select ASB leaders, and review or create a constitution and bylaws.
- Junior High students will meet to discuss how class governance will occur and what they want their school to become.
